

You have to hand it to the government. Even when it liberalises policy, it ensures the “delete

To take the completely ridiculous portions of the new telecom FDI policy first, the policy says th

At a time when the country’s police/investigative arms find it impossible to trace people at time

In addition, there are a slew of new clauses that are completely out of tune with existing practic

In order to ensure no one (abroad, at least!) spies on Indian citizens, the rules say companies

Companies that set up huge international networks, similarly, have network operation centres .

The crowing glory, of course, is that all the new provisions apply not just to firms that choose to